SAFETY INSPECTIONS

The office of the State Fire Marshal inspects all county school facilities annually in an effort to discover violations that could create an unsafe environment for its receivers of service. A report of all violations is generated and copied to the Raleigh County Board of Education for corrective action.

The West Virginia State Boiler Inspector makes an annual inspection of all heating systems.

The Raleigh County Health Department makes periodic inspections of the schools food service program and places special emphasis on food preparation, food storage, temperature of food being served and stored, and inspects the general cleanliness of the physical plant.
